

Master Programme Anglophone Literatures and Cultures

Study Code 066 844

General remarks

None of our UK and Ireland Erasmus+ programmes offer access to graduate programmes (in these countries MA level courses are only accessible to fee-paying students). However, SPL Anglistik does accept and recognize higher-level undergraduate courses for our MA courses.

UK / Ireland: courses must be chosen from Year Two and Year Three

USA, Canada and Australia: Choose high-level undergraduate or (where possible) graduate courses.

Continental Europe: only MA level courses should be selected

In general, "Introduction to ..." -courses should never be taken by MA students, unless they deal with a special and advanced topic which is relevant to your personal focus, or your MA thesis - e.g. Introduction to 20th Century Philosophy if your thesis topics deals with literature and philosophy.

As with other programmes, courses can most easily be credited for "option" modules, such as Module 5 in the Master curriculum. However, other module units can also be replaced:

Details and specific Module courses

| | |
|------------------|--|
| Module 1: | the lecture Literatures in English (5 ECTS) can easily be replaced. The other two units are better completed in Vienna. |
| Module 2: | to be completed in Vienna |
| Modules 3 and 5: | can usually be completed abroad. In Module 3 both Literary and Cultural Studies topics need to be covered. |
| Module 4: | depending on course access at the host university, ONE SE course may sometimes be recognised. |
| Module 6: | to be taken in Vienna |

In English-speaking countries, modules (that is, individual "Lehrveranstaltungen") tend to be bigger: they have 7.5, 10 or at times even 15 ECTS. Therefore, we often split courses for recognition, provided the course content allows this.

In general, MA Literature and Cultural Studies students may expect to get at least 20 and up to 30 ECTS recognised.

Currently, Mag. M. Wittmann is still responsible for all questions relating to the recognition of modules completed during exchange semesters. You should always talk to her before selecting courses, filling in online Learning Agreements or sending lists with course options to your host university.
