

M.Ed. UF Englisch (Lehramt)

Study Codes 199 xxx 507 xxx and 196 xxx 046 xxx

The structure of the UF English in the M.Ed. and recognition (see also HERE):

Fitting an exchange semester into the M.Ed. UF English is difficult. The Modules UF MA EN 02, UF MA EN 05 and the Thesis cannot be recognized. This is also true for the two advanced Language Competence classes, UE Mediation and Genre Analysis for English Teachers (MAGNET) and UE Advanced Speaking Skills for English Teachers (ASSET) (3 and 2 ECTS, respectively).

This leaves a maximum of 17 ECTS which may be recognized:

VO Literatures in English / AR Literature (alternatively: VO Cultural Studies / AR Cultural Studies)	5 ECTS
VO Communication, Code and Culture / AR Advanced course in Linguistics	5 ECTS
[sometimes:] VK Specific Issues in Language Learning and Teaching (a didactics-oriented class)	3 ECTS
[sometimes:] Applied Research Seminar (4 ECTS) (can have a topic in linguistics, literature or cultural studies, but has to include a research focus)	4 ECTS

 For the VK, the best chances to find equivalents are usually in linguistics – applied linguistics modules dealing with bi/multilingualism, second language acquisition, the use of IT/digital methods in language teaching and similar topics. Literature and cultural studies topics are also possible, but it is not easy to find courses with at least an indirect teaching / learning aspect (i.e. how to teach literature or cultural studies).

The situation becomes more complicated because UK and Irish modules in the UK tend to be bigger (7.5, 10 or even 15 ECTS). Such big courses cannot easily be split up between two of the four above-mentioned courses. For more advice, please refer to Mag. Monika Wittmann.

As in the Bachelor-Lehramt, the International Office will count ECTS acquired in all three areas of the M.Ed. (both UF subjects and Education/Pedagogy), but since there is no guarantee that candidates will find and be allowed to attend suitable courses in the other UF and/or education/pedagogy, some uncertainty remains. In any case, the selection committee will only nominate M.Ed. students if it is very likely that they will be able to gain the necessary number of ECTS credits through Anglistik recognitions (12 to 15 ECTS).

Currently, Mag. M. Wittmann is still responsible for all questions relating to the recognition of modules completed during exchange semesters. You should always talk to her before selecting courses, filling in online Learning Agreements or sending lists with course options to your host university.